A voice crying in the wilderness

Isn't it easy in the current world to feel that as Christian voices we are truly in the wilderness and calling out in vain with no-body listening?

But just as John the Baptist faces the same challenge with zeal and commitment, Pope Francis has recently set us all a challenge to follow this very example. Earlier this year he said "In the face of our secularized world, let us not complain, but see in it a call to prove our faith and an invitation to communicate the joy of the Gospel." He continues "Faith is the light that leads us to the Lord. Let this light shine in our lives so that it may also illuminate the paths of those who do not yet believe."

The season of Advent is the ideal time to reflect on the reality of the last year and to consider what we can do in the year ahead to bring our faith to life, to let the light within us shine to those around us. To consider in what way we can prepare the coming of Christ in our own small way, in our own small neighbourhoods. It's highly unlikely that any of us are being called to don our loin cloth and march into the desert to live of the land but we are all called in our own way, through the experience of our lives to proclaim the coming of Christ into the world, through our love for our community, the love of our neighbour, the sharing of our faith experience to others or simply the way we share a smile with the lonely, the sad, the lost or the homeless. This is how we cry out in the wilderness of the world.

Just a thought ....

Throughout scripture, both Old and New, the message is again and again the importance of community. The family becomes a clan, the clan becomes a tribe and the tribe becomes a people. The disciples and followers of Christ became a community. In turn Jesus reminds those listening to Him in the Synagogues that it wasn't just His direct family who were outside looking for Him because, everyone who follows Him are also "His family" (Mt 12:48-50) —a family following Jesus and it is for this reason that successive Popes have all referred to the Parish as "a family made up of families" or "a community of communities" - a phrase used by Bishop Richard in his recent Pastoral letter to us at the Feast of Christ the King.

The point which brings us all together and unifies us, is the reality that we have all been baptised in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit. Our Spiritual journey to eternity relies on the support, the encouragement, the love of the whole community for each other.

How are we as "the little children of God" preparing His way to enter in glory to Rye in East Sussex in the hearts of the people around us. Welcoming them into our Parish Family. The family of Christ.

Bring a friend to Christ this Christmas

Do you know someone who has been going through a tough time this year? Do you know someone who has fallen away from the Church for whatever reason? Do you know someone who is looking for something in their lives, but doesn't quite know what it is they are looking for?

Wouldn't it be a wonderful gift of love and grace to invite that person, that family member, to come along to experience the hope and joy of Advent and true meaning of Christmas and the coming of our saviour Jesus Christ. God loves us so completely He gives His only begotten Son for the salvation of all humanity. Let's share this gift of hope and joy with a loving heart this Advent.

"Therefore welcome one another as Christ has welcomed you, for the glory of God. " (Rom15:7)
