The Baptism of the Lord

The feast of the Baptism of our Lord serves to remind us of our own baptisms. Baptism has liberated us from all evil, as we reject satan and embrace God (something we re-affirm at our confirmation). In baptism we also experience a rebirth, as God's "beloved children" and at this point we are also commissioned as God's children to His cause, to spread the kingdom of God.

One dilemma that this description brings to mind, is trying to understand then, is why did Jesus need to be baptised?

Pope Benedict's book 'Jesus of Nazareth' suggests one answer to understand this conundrum. Benedict explains that while Jesus did not have any sins of His own to be washed away in the waters of baptism, it could only have been our sins that He took down into the river Jordan. Naturally no one would understand this at that time, but they would realise this later when they understood that Jesus died on the Cross for our sins. So, Jesus' baptism in the Jordan and his dying on the Cross are intrinsically linked; He did both for our sins. He took our sins on his shoulders as He went down into the Jordan and continued to do so as He died on the Cross.

Living our faith through action

Just a thought ... Living our Baptismal Promises—

- Do we reject Satan, and all his works? And all his empty promises?
- Do we believe in God, the Father Almighty, creator of heaven and earth?
- Do we believe in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord?
- Do we believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy Catholic church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting?

What does it mean to “believe” in our hearts?

Bringing faith into action

There are many ways that we can bring our faith to life, through prayer, care for each other, and through our Christ-like relationships with our families and friends.

But have you thought about volunteering your services in the Lord's name? Not always possible in a busy schedule but should you have a few moments spare (and the energy), you might like to think about the following ideas -

- Hospital Chaplaincy at the Conquest/Rye Memorial—for more information speak to Helen Ross.
- Supporting the ever growing food bank in Rye—for more information speak to Mags Ivatts.
- Supporting the ecumenical Street Pastors in Rye—for more information speak to Dcn Simon.
- Visiting the housebound and lonely—for more information speak to Dcn Simon.
